

What is claimed is:

1. A method for manufacturing a mirror case, which has a body (2) that can rest and fix a mirror and a handle (3), the manufacturing method comprising of the procedures of:

5 manufacturing procedure of the mirror case core (10) by injection molding; forming procedure of the pattern (20) on the surface of the mirror case core (10);

diluting procedure after putting a small amount of hardener and antifoam into Formica;

10 manufacturing procedure of the mirror case that is hardened and dried after forming Formica layer (30) to the outer face of the mirror case core (10) by fixing the mirror case core (10) to the inside of mold and then inputting the Formica dilute solution;

milling processing procedure of the surface of the mirror case (40); and 15 glossy processing procedure of the surface of the mirror case (40).